EDITOR'S NOTE

Investing in a child is securing the future

I wish to seize this opportunity to invite you all on our premier edition of the Super Kids Magazine. Going on, this magazine will endeavor to serve a special segment of our society, and often neglected by the mainstream media – The Children. We will as much as possible make this the apt forum for children leadership across the board, featuring outreach and missions, homes, cooking, Africa story, grooming, environment, culture, fashion, games, sciences, societies, education, health and religion.

It is not bound to be a walk in the park either, but we commit to surmount the myriad obstacles by presenting, challenging and exuberant articles and puzzles - all designed to appeal to lively young minds.

As well as providing a generous helping of intelligent reading, it will inspire a love of learning and encourage a thoughtful, balanced take on life. Beautifully illustrated with photographs and diagrams, you will find science, history and general knowledge in every issue.

The magazine, no doubt will be an educational platform to keep children entertained with intelligent reading. Every issue will contain factual articles, puzzles and fun activities that will enrich their general knowledge.

Contrary to conventional wisdom, we should not bind children to fairy tales. It is important to educate them about their environment and make them able to solve their problems by understanding ground realities.

That, we will strive to do. In a dynamic society where the children's rights have become an integral part of our day-to-day life, our core value will be Awareness on Child Rights.

We too will explore social and cultural issues to open up new worlds and enrich children's lives as well as homing up their social skills considering cultural diversity as a treasure.

Equally in focusing on children as our bulk audience, we do acknowledge the fact that, children constitution is a crucial market segment in commerce. We therefore shall be featuring businesses that target children interests' such as; children fashion stores, book stores, entertainment, games, food and retail stores with a special bias for children. We do take this opportunity to invite such business ventures to come on board to showcase their products and services. Here, they will reach out to their target market audience.

We welcome all and sundry to join us in this long journey to secure future generations. Always remember that investing in child development is both a means to an end and an end in itself. It will benefit the child directly and also help that child contribute to the well-being of society. Immaculate Tariah

OUR VISION IS TO TRANSFORM AND EMPOWER CHILDREN

It is my pleasure to welcome you all to the 1st edition of our magazine. From the humble beginning of super kids Africa, It has been striving to fulfill the call to awaken, nurture lives of service and leadership.

Today we gather here to give gratitude to all our officials and to The Almighty God for having seen us come this far. Our desire is to see children grow into dutiful and dedicated adults in future. Super kids greatly values learner's discipline as an indispensable ingredient to capability of full excellence.

We normally have a big dream which is to make a child wholistic. We aim to equip the child not only with formal discipline but also informal discipline. In this venture Our leadership has invested in much categories e.g. Talents, Media outreach and Home awards. As a person joins he is taught how to be disciplined and self motivated This is in line with the country's vision 2030.

Through the spirit of super kids our patron saint our vision is to transform our Community to our children to support them and develop much in them so that Our Faith in God, zeal, service to humanity, eradication of illiteracy and poverty.

Our foundation pride in the diversity of its children, this diversity has been Instrumental in assisting children acquire social skills with our motto BECOME, GROW; MATURE as the headlight, Determination, Faith in God and the inspiration Of our patron pastor Chris. We Believe and are determined to ensure that we Continue to offer the best and grow to greater heights

Finally, I wish to thank all present Board Fraternity for supporting as to reach this Far and also supporting our dream to establishing this wonderful foundation. May God bless all those who have worked hand in hand with us and contributed to the Realization of this 1st edition of our super kid's magazine.

ABOUT

Super Kids Africa

Super Kids Africa is a non profit organization that is focused in reaching the children of Africa with the Gospel of Jesus Christ .We keep both the children in schools and teachers informed on the latest updates and mostly act as a connecting bond between teachers, parents and children. We also acknowledge personalities in accordance to school activities dominance and also talents, abilities and views of children. Super kids Africa acts as a record holder of school moments, church and legendary holder of the best personalities of children which is recognized through super kids'awards. Our ultimate goal is to reach the children with the good news of Jesus helping them become ,grow, mature through discipleship and mentorship and helping them to share the Gospel of Jesus.

Super kids Africa began 2011 with a group of young people with the founder being Christopher Njoroge who loves children and wants to see every child reached with the Gospel of Jesus and having a place they can call home and their rights as children protected.

Currently Super Kids Africa has been able to reach over 32,000 children with the Gospel of Jesus; mentored children, produced kids music, outreach manual and kids ABC material to help churches children organizations to develop a good plan for discipleship and mentoring their children in the word of God.

Super kids Africa has been able to work with children from different organizations that is Compassion International, Feed the Children, Homecare Orphans and vulnerable kids of Kibera through homecare fellowship, worked with over 25 churches including PCEA, ACK, deliverance and many other churches. It has also been able to organize missions and outreach, in different regions of Kenya including Garrisa,Hola,Mombasa,Kajiado extending to East Africa with a goal of creating mission movements in Africa and the rest of the world.

Super kids Africa is working towards reaching millions of children in Africa and with projects that will be able to give a lot of children opportunities for quality education in rural villages, a home for the street children.

ETIQUETTE & BEHAVIOUR

Dining Behavior For Children Definition

The best way to conduct themselves

- Wash your hands carefully before meals, using clean water and soap and wipe yourself with a clean cloth.
- You should wait patiently until everyone is seated and served so that you begin eating your meal
- When eating you should always sit upright on the chair do not bend or sit in funny positions since it may inconvenience other people
- Kindly excuse yourself before leaving the dining table
- If you need anything to be passed to you don't force yourself through people's plates to get it but kindly request e.g. please may pass me the salt etc
- Your mouth is not a termite hole to be left open close your mouth always as you chew
- Every time you use a tooth pick cover your mouth and wipe your mouth with a clean handkerchief.
- Hands are the only body part allowed on the table the rest keep to yourself
- Don't scream or talk as you eat finish and after that you have all the time to do other things
- It's proper to pick up dirty utensils from the table and make sure they're clean as you found them

Children Heritage

Whether it is their hearty and warm smiling nature or the innocence in the look of their eyes, eyes that have not seen much but are alluring enough and draw you in with just but one gaze, we cannot help falling in love with children. They are like little angels, shining and glittering all through. We may love children for different reasons but one common thing about them all is that in each of them lies a great destiny and a great purpose. In them lies the greatest potential that is yet to be discovered.

In them lies the best of the talents yet to be explored. And the greatness in our children will only hatch if nurtured in a proper way. The upbringing of our children will determine whether we raise them or doom them. We must bring them up knowing right from wrong. In our indescribable love for them we must rebuke and correct them for it is only in their early years that we can lay the foundation of good and evil; not to forget the wise words, "spare the rod..."

When we teach them the right habits, we are guaranteed of their future life being safe. On the other hand we must take care of how we speak to our children. The way we talk to them becomes their inner voice. Shout at a child and he will look at it as how problems are solved. Our greatest teaching however is ourselves and our actions. Children are more conscious of our actions than we are aware and whatever we do they will do. Take an example; if every day you do not make your bed when you get up in the morning you can be sure neither will your child make his and the worst bit is that you are robbed of the authority to discipline them for that same thing you also practice. It seems trivial but goes to show you just how big our actions matter. Let us remember, "Train a child in the way he should go and even when he is old he will not depart from it." they shout back at you later on.

In the final analysis it is not what we do for our children that make them excel in life but what we teach them to do for themselves. Let us not handicap our children by making them think everything comes easy.

Let us teach them that everything comes as a result of hard work, effort and a resilient spirit. Let us teach them how to think, not what to think. Let us teach them independence of mind to enable them understand that whatever their minds conceive, they have the power to achieve. And after all the teaching we must love them, support them and care for them. We must show them that in a world with so much cruelty, all they need is a little compassion. Let us remind them that each of them has something to offer. And above all we as the caregivers let us never forget that children are a heritage.

ANJELICA CHALKS

Children Home

The home was started in 2010 by Jane Jimono and her beautiful family. It was born out of a motherly heart when she saw the need of children in the community without mothers left to fend for themselves. Jimono took it to heart and began to pray that God would give her direction on how to go about it.

Finally the day came when the dream was born. She started by accommodating children in her own home and others she gave to church members, which was a great challenge and she had to trust God. The home began with 10 kids. The lord began to work out on how they would be in their own home and rooms.

Currently the home has 60 children and 12 helpers.

The children have a life at the home and they get to involve themselves with different activities like drama, dancing, and singing and also go for trips. The home is lucky as well wishers have joined and helped to support it. The children were the dance group of the year in super kids' awards 2014.

Jimono is a proud mother taking care of the little angels. Currently she is praying and trusting that they can move to their permanent home where they will be farming. The home welcomes any volunteer who wishes to give time and any skills to the children for the glory of God and also any support in helping the children reach their dream.

KIDS INSPIRATIONAL QUOTES

PUT YOUR REST ON HIM

*God is faithful He will never disappoint
you Be sure to put your rest on Him Because with Him you are 100% certain to get up
Despite how painful the fall is*

*In the midst of that strong tornado swirling up and down...
When the hurricanes seems to toss you up and down
He will be the only one able to save you.....
Surround you with His dome
Just to make sure that no harm comes upon you
When the oceans waves are raging fiercely
He is able to calm the storm for you only
His mercies will never fail you no matter what Or how big the circumstance is*

Super Kids Awards

Our preparation began 3 months before the grand finale, whereby we visited and spent time in the homes that had qualified for the homes awards. It was great experience as the super kids leaders had to spend nights in some homes helping and guiding them for a good presentation.

On August 30th, Ngong saw it's first ever competition held for orphaned children, where their dance, song and creative talent was celebrated. Thanks to Super Kid's Africa.

Super Kid's Africa is an organisation which helps empower children to their full potential in order to live a purpose cantered Christ driven life and help them grow into mature beings.

The event not only celebrated the children's talent, but highlighted the talent that these children have despite their tough start in life, to encourage them and drive them to a positive life.

A total of 15 orphanages participated in the event, including Shelter Children's home where the event was hosted who were part of organizing team and also sponsors, with a total of 1,500 people attending.

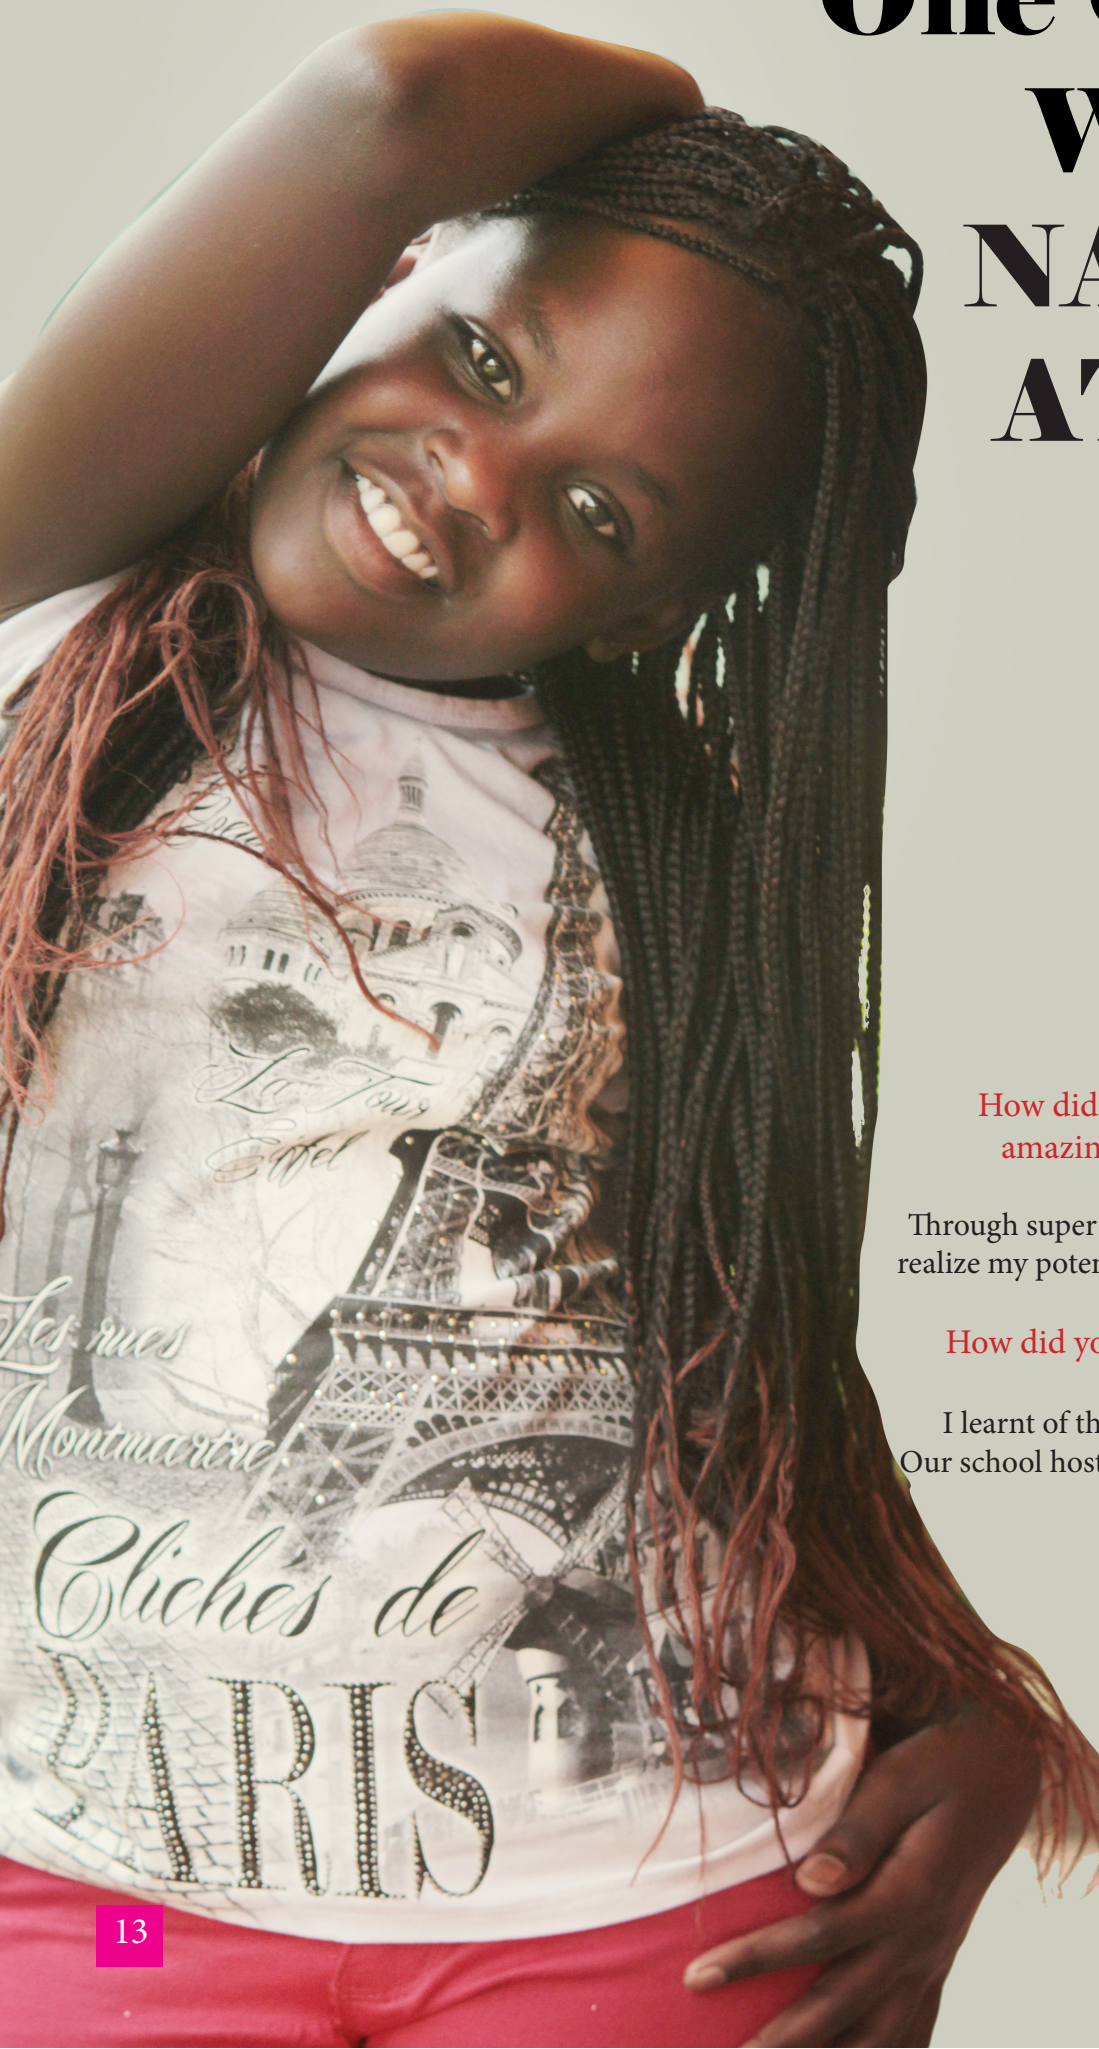

The Super Kid's Africa board of directors supplied large white tents and food for everyone, with brands such as Coca-Cola, Brook Side Milk Company and Biscuit giving donations to offer throughout the event. There were two different stage areas; one for art and creative talents to be displayed and the second was to host the dance song and modelling performances.

Half way through the performances, there was a break for lunch which allowed three homes at a time to line up for a feed of rice, beans and pilau. There was plenty for everyone. After lunch the dancing continued, finishing with the fashion show. The fashion show allowed each orphanage to display their children in authentic homemade Africa outfits, a winner to be chosen by three judges which were present for each category.

The judges gave their comments after each performance, positive and critical, picking out different children if a compliment was deserved. For some children, this would be the first time that they were told they had a talent, or they were doing something exceptionally well, aside from the encouragement given from their own home. The whole event was about showcasing the talent and potential the children have and on more cases than one; it was well received by the judges.

Most of the children at the event started life in an unstable situation where a bright future was a far sight for them. Super Kid's Africa offers support to these children to help create a strong foundation to enable the possibility of a bright future.

MY POEM

MY HERO

*My hero, my Saviour,
My long lost knight,
My love my king
Who sacrificed everything*

*Who was treated harshly
Who was ill-treated, and
Beaten mercilessly
Who died in pain
Just for one who sinned*

*Just for one who sinned
Just for me my farther
Not enough
You were nailed on the cross*

*They shared your clothes
But you took it all
You fought for me
You took a burden*

*That was mine to bear
How I loved and adore you
How I want you in my life even more
How I would like to kneel.*

*And kiss your feet
My king, you are everything
You are all I will ever want
Your all I will ever want
You're all I will ever need.*

*You are the one I will kiss the ground
I will never be ashamed to call you mine
I know you are my farther, you are everything*

*You are mine and am your
And when its time
We will be together
Rejoicing and laughing.*

*Love without boundaries
He looked so lonely
But he treated me harshly
He kept shouting at me so loudly*

*I thought at first he was treating me equally
Because I was his private secretary
Then one day he started, looking at me jealousy*

*He started dressing fancily
Even thou he was elderly
He walked so handsomely
He started talking to me sweetly
A feeling came so strongly*

*If felt so heavenly
That day I was clumsy
Then so surprisingly, accidentally
I fell on something warm and cozy
But my lips on something slippery Something caressed me from behind so warmly*

*Then I gained my strength staidly
When I opened my eyes I tried to behave calmly
But everybody was looking at us surprisingly*

*My hands became sweaty
My feet became weary
But I behaved strongly
I ran way looking confused and lonely; I went to my house and looked at my self furiously*

*I was so moody then somebody knocked at the door lightly
When I opened the door was I to cry
But if not what I was to say sorry
Sorry he had followed me how lovely
He looked ta me mischievously
After that day he was my one and only*

THE CHOOSEN (Racheal Muiruri , rechmuiruri@yahoo.com, 0708605763)

Why the name chosen? 1st peter 2:9, we are a chosen generation. Chosen both by, God and man to spread the gospel through dancing. The group began 2013 October as a church dance group (and still is) with 23 children and later the group grew so much and it was divided into three the chosen seniors ages 10-14, chosen juniors ages 4-8 and chosen teens ages 15-18. The group was formed with the sole purpose of ministry (attracting and pulling the young to church, which we term as soul winning. We decided to use our dancing talent to win more people to church which has brought us great joy. What inspires us? When we perform at different churches and events, then see people's lives getting changed and people giving their life to God after seeing our performances, it makes us want to dance more and spread the gospel. What inspires me (Rachael) I look at the kids and see the passion in them to spread the gospel and the remarkable number of lives they have changed through dancing, it brings tears of joy to my eyes. Talents are the most powerful God given, gifts we have and kids should be given the opportunity to explore their beautiful talents. Don't sit on your talent for all you know it would change the world.

African Kids Fashion

Fashion to a child is what makes one comfortable, feel cute and a form of expressing yourself through clothes you wear. This includes all the amazing thoughts that you put in the clothes. Personal style that reflects or shows an image of God's creation (children) made of good attitude not just beauty, believe in oneself and brings out a strong picture on how people treat you.

Beauty does not give the finest outlook; it's about loving yourself, your body, looking at yourself as a child of God and wearing the best and right clothes that make you outstanding.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CHURCH: MARANATHA CHILDREN MINISTRY

Today in our Sunday school church we feature Maranatha Sunday school which is located at state line kabiria in Nairobi county. The Sunday school has over 80 children and is growing each day. As we visited the children ministry the first was warm smiles of beautiful children from the gate all excited about the Sunday and looking forward to an exciting moment.

As we asked them what they learned last week as we realized that the children were able to say the verses in many words and even understand the passage and memory verse very fast, immediately the children's church patron called out and every body got in and sat down with expectation as the room seemed too small to contain the wonderful handsome and beautiful girls in a moment the class was flooded with many children and teachers were ready for their different classes they handle after the assemble the children were send to their different classes.

Good work going on as we sat later to hear more about the children ministry and the challenges going on in Maranatha church ,but with all that the church is very committed in delivering to its children the right doctrine and making sure children are not left out.

Bishop Joseph Gatururi

Children are a life to the church and the nation. church without children is not a church with life. Here at Maranatha ministries we love and value children and invest to see they are taught in all ways possible. we also admit children ministry is a challenge in many ways for many struggle to engage in it because of the burden it comes with it but we encourage our children ministers to keep on doing the good work and never to tire. Thank you to all children ministers around the world for the great work they are doing may the lord reward you and bless you.

STORY TIME

Its story time to look at how the African child, grandparent grew like then will compare and learn

The African Child

A super kid of Africa was literally a super kid since birth, a united community came together to celebrate the birth of a new arrival in the home

It was a symbol of a blessing from God, from every ethnic community through everyone called their God differently; they all rejoiced and recognized their supreme being who we all call God.

This called for celebration, the “wazees” came together and drunk their tradition brews.

The women were not left behind as they all came together and helped super kids mother by a couple of activities like cooking for the family, collecting firewood from the forest, fetching water from the well, washing utensils and clothes, yes, the African mother rested and was fed by the community, she ate nutritious traditional food like yams, sweet potatoes, porridge, beans, black peas, arrowroots, maize and everything traditional.

Little by little, the super African child grew strong and big with time, disease was rare as the health acquired strong immunity. The kid learnt how to speak from the environment, learnt the ways of the community and the language that was full of respect and humility.

The growth depending on the gender signified introduction of gender roles, the girls moved closer to fellow girls and women. Gradually she could help in cooking, washing and collecting firewood. The super Africa girl's day was filled with famine activities until she would earn them all.

The super Africa boy was the family hero so he had to be strong, show courage as cowardice was not given room in the Africa setup. Its roles were defined by taking the cattle out to graze, hunting for the family, fencing the home, farming, digging wells. Protecting the herds was the worrier job so they had to show courage and boldness.

All games and no play makes jack a dull boy, the saying takes effect even in the African setup.

During their free time, the super kids engaged in a handful activities. The boys played out in the field, they wrestled, threw bow and arrows, asked and cracked riddles, competed in athletics, swam in rivers and many more games.

The super girl also cracked riddles, drew patterns on the ground with sticks, learnt songs, singing games, traditional folksongs, played hide and seek and all other traditional games.

Moral values were instilled by villagers, just like saying goes; it takes a whole village to raise the child. Disrespect to elders regardless of age or gender was not an option, yes, ask your mothers and fathers every time they wronged, any parent was called to discipline the kid and thus the children grew respectfully, obedient, considerate, selfless and caring to the larger society.

They grew strong and their characters drew blessing from their clan, parents and God. The good old days that were replaced by social network, digital devices e.g. mobile phones, TVs, internet games.

LESSON

Every child can come together and play together, not always be locked on television, the digital devices and social network since they make as loners. Just like the super African kid, disobedience is never an option either to a relative, a grown up, a teacher or even a stranger.

Traditional foods are healthy and make as strong, requests our parents to make them for us. What other lessons did you learn? Write them down

How to earn as a child

Well kids are too young to get a job; this goes on for a long time until 18 years and above. So how can you earn-;

Ask your parents/guardians whether you can do a few chores at home then get paid. As you do your chores, tickle them by doing them perfectly, once you put a smile on their face. They might pay you a little more. Ask your relatives whether they need some work done then maybe you can earn some coins. Do your siblings like to keep their room untidy? Mmh! That's a tip, keep yours tidy all the time, this might just earn something too, your parents/guardians will be extremely happy with you. With permission make fruit juice at home and sell it to your friends during play, outdoors meetings or to the park.

If your teachers can allow it sell it in school may be during weekends, if this can't be allowed don't get discouraged you can earn elsewhere. Are you talented? Maybe in drawing, singing, dancing, comedy. Well, hack the birthday parties or any other parties in the hood make them your little concerts maybe kaboom!! You will earn some coins too.

SCRIPTURE MAN

Reprise

(1,2,3,4)
Jesus you're my superhero

INGREDIENTS

3 slices toasted white or wheat bread
Mayonnaise
Honey mustard
1/2 avocado, sliced
3 slices smoked or roasted turkey
2 slices cheddar cheese
4 slices cooked bacon
1 tomato, sliced
1 leaf butter lettuce
4 toothpicks or decorative food picks
Vegetable or potato chips (optional), for serving

DIRECTIONS

Any of these ingredients can easily be left out, especially the cheese or the condiments, but whatever you do, don't lose the third piece of bread in the sandwich: it helps keep everything stacked in place.

1. Arrange toast side by side on a clean surface. Slather mayonnaise and mustard on one side of each piece of toast.
2. On first piece of toast, spread and press avocado evenly. Place turkey over avocado, and then place two slices of cheddar cheese over bread.
3. Next, place second slice of toast over cheese. Snap bacon in half and place it across toast. Lay sliced tomato over bacon, and then place lettuce over tomato. Finally, place third slice of bread on top, mayonnaise side facing down.
4. Pin the layers of the sandwich together by evenly and securely piercing them with toothpicks, forming a diamond pattern. With a serrated knife, cut diagonally to left and diagonally to right to form four triangle pieces, each piece secured with a toothpick.
5. Split sandwich between two plates; serve alongside chips, if desired.

ART & DESIGN

Art and design is a practical skill that involves a lot of creativity and imagination to come up with products that reflect the feeling that an individual wishes to portray. Just as we have pilots, engineers and mechanics we also have professionals who practice art called artists. It offers a broad foundation onto which individuals can express themselves.

Art and design is also a means of earning a living for many artists who sell their products to willing buyers. It can also be practiced as a hobby.

Art and design is a very adventurous and enjoyable in all fields that will lead to the creation of a desired product. Children are naturally interested in practical and enjoyable things that make them creative people. They tend to be more distracted in learning highly complicated and less engaging things.

The art and design skill is very important in nurturing children's talents and molding individuals into artists of the future.

The following is a simple model onto which we can involve children in art and design.

THE ART CLUB

A thorough selection of children with a natural like of art and design can be carried out so as to create a club whereby children can be taught various skills in art and design. The art club will function as a system involving various inputs to enable the children to be trained and nurtured into becoming artists.

Art usually requires a variety of media for example, paints and canvas onto which products need to be created. The club can involve artist who would volunteer and train the children in a fun and enjoyable way improvising various materials as art media.

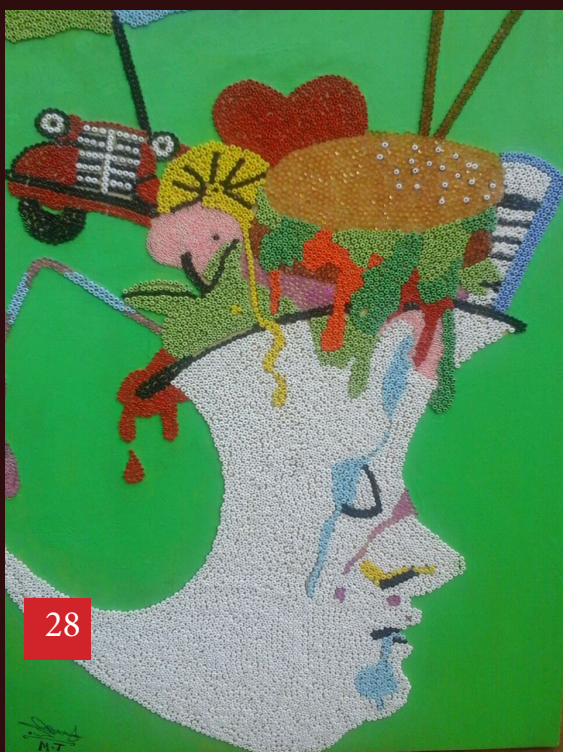

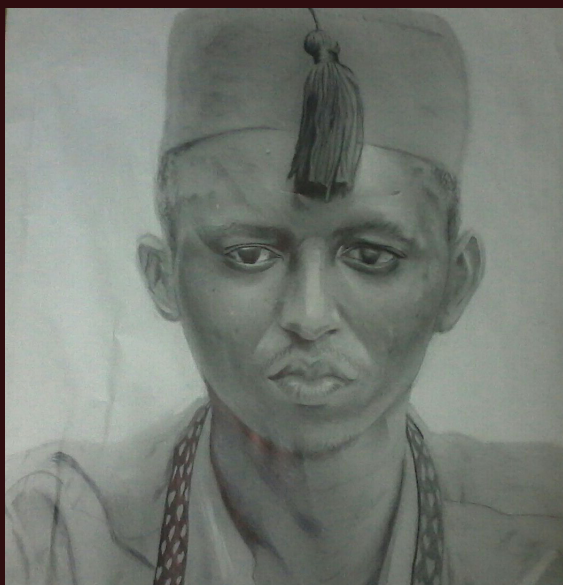

A schedule will be created indicating the time period and how activities are to be executed to establish a full training session. This can be during weekends, public holidays and school holidays because children do have free time during this period.

A list of available professional artists can be created after prospecting in various art centers or even contacting artists personally that would volunteer and take part in this ambitious project. They then can be assigned different times and activities depending on their availability and style more like a school syllabus.

The location of the activities can be customized to accommodate the children from the various children depending on how many of each homes or schools are involved, and the proximity to a suitable center.

The following is a classic example of an arts festival that we are building around that will enable one to understand the importance of art and design that transformed a community. The model known as "Maaya" entrepreneurship was created in Ségou, Mali in 2004 by the Festival sur le Niger, led by Mamou Daffe. "Maaya" is a Malian humanist vision that Daffe believes can bring about artistic, economic and social sustainable development based on local values, but incorporating modern management principles. This vision has been applied through a festival that acts as a catalyst for local development, from artistic professions to hotels, catering, crafts and tourism. This approach helps to sustain the community in different ways, notably:

- Economically: By having the local population supply all goods and services and by instigating the creation of the Council for the Promotion of Local Economy in the office of the Mayor of Ségou;

- Culturally: By reviving and incorporating traditional performances, e.g. oral traditions, masks and puppets, music and traditional dance and canoe races;

- Artistically: By providing support to training and development of careers in the arts and in the newly established cultural center;

- Socially: By affording opportunities for those living in Ségou to interact with festival participants and audiences. Over the past five years, the festival has developed a housing system that encourage festival-goers to stay in private homes (200 families were accommodated in 2008), boosting income for local residents and fostering friendships.

Ségou has been twinned with Richmond (Virginia) in the United States in October 2009, and exchanges have been developed with Mexico and Portugal, as well as the festival Les Journées Mandingue in Sedhiou and Senegal;

- Environmentally: Through the development, cleaning and reforestation of the bank of the river Downtown. The festival has also established an observatory of the Niger River in Ségou. Three principles underpin the “Maaya” entrepreneurship model, namely:

- Social or community principle: i.e. the willingness to serve the community and ownership of the event by local people and their involvement in its design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation, and based on their social values;

- Managerial principle: Through the use of qualified people, leadership and governance based on ethics and fairness, sound planning of the financial resources of the festival (e.g. equity, revenues from private sponsors, ticketing and derivative, etc.).

- Cultural and artistic principle: Through the development of dynamic, interactive links between art, culture, society and economy, while at the same time integrating emotional competencies into business strategies and marketing, thereby combining a clever mix of traditional values and the requirements of a modern enterprise.

THE KIDS MOVIE STARS

Featuring A Young Growing Talent

In todays movie star we are feturing a young talent cropping up in the visininty of Nairobi kenya.we focuse on a short movie done by darling wambui kamau class 5 schools in Nairobi WALDORF.

Hope in the dry sason is a mordern way of retaling the story of job, how job seffred and everything was taken away from him but he still had hope in God and he was rewarded by God.

Darling plays hope in the movie and lives with her dad in a dry land,her dad sends her to go fetch water but comes back with very little water ,because of the dry season during that time.she makes her dad sing a song then dinner is served and off to bed.

The next day there was no water in the well my dad decides its time to pack and go hope speaks to his dad to wait for one more day and allas!!!!Rain drops and suddenly the rain is here they dance in the rain and the hope paid off!!!!

Congratulations darling wambui keep growing your talent, you are a movie star

KIDS OUTREACH AND MISSION

This is a super kids Africa department that deals with reaching out to the kids of Africa Mission that was given to disciples by its concerned. The outreach and mission is headed by James Mulili.

Outreach and mission targets to convert a billion souls of young ones to Christ as well as teaching the good news of Christ which will impact and induce a true doctrine in lives of young Africans, in so doing, outreach and mission keeps in mind that, "Jesus is the way, the truth and the life and no one goes to the Father except through Jesus, John 14:6"

Garrisa, Eldoret and Machakos Outreach and mission events; These are recently attended outreach and mission by Christopher, Catherine, James, Lazarus and Totto. All the three events were well done and the word of the Lord was well spread and each kid in each outreach mission received the salvation and prayers were the key to reach the kid's heart and soul. They surrendered their lives to Christ and they got to know who they are in Christ.

Outreach and mission bases their teachings on how baby Jesus and Samuel grew up.

Context: Luke 2:52 and 1 Samuel 2:26

-both Jesus and Samuel grew up increasing in wisdom and stature pleasing God and men.

Aim ; to make kids know how they should grow within the context of the sound and respectful manner before God and men.

Remarks; the super kids mission/ outreach goal to reach out for a billion souls were a bit achieved.

Glory be to God.

MISSION:

To provide a conducive environment for character modelling and academic excellence.

ABOUT THE SCHOOL

High peak academy was started in the year 2003 with people who had high ambitions of starting a school to empower kids with proper learning and mould good character and discipline. Its located at swamp Riruta location along Kikuyu road, a very popular area with a very conducive environment for kids.

The academy is not only a school with academic environ but also it's involved in co-curriculum activities to enable the kids to know and develop different types of skills which will help them in day to day life.

The co-curriculum activities involved are such as; computer lessons, French classes, music, drama, games and sports, educational trips etc; Highpeak academy is one of the best academies known, due to the best facilities it has ie; classes, library, etc and also a good compound for the kids to play and freely interact, which is why they do become best in games and sports .

It also has the best equipments needed for the kids to do the learning comfortably and feel quit ok with the teachers around them, which gives them great motivation in all the areas.

THE SOUND OF VICTORY IN AFRICA

I can hear the rushing wind, I can sense the atmosphere changing, the clouds are gathering, hear the sound of thunder, rivers amplifying hope in Africa are flowing now unhindered, watering the land of Africa the child of Africa, joy is breaking forth, and jubilation is about to be experienced, this land that has experienced in justice is about to break forth like a caged ocean, the moments we have been waiting for are now here, the faces that we fought for are now free, our children who were taken to unknown land are back home unharmed, hope is being restored and broken wall being build. The foundations are set for a jubilant Africa where the child is the one ruling in future days after experiencing the freedom of education and raised in a continent where its foundation is the solid rock Jesus Christ.

Now its our time children of Africa, wake up and dress in your African attires be ready for the jubilee for your freedom is hear, may your chains of slavery be broken and may doors of knowledge where you sit in class with a baby stomach full, where your pen shall never refuse to write for you to be send home because you did have enough to buy, its jubilation for education is available within your rich to make you rich to live in the place with toys and dolls to keep you company as a child not to miss the freedom of being a child.

Make a joyfully noise bit your drams it's time to dance and raise the white flag of peace in Africa, oh child of Africa it's your party time, no more hunger, no more threats to your innocence, no more lack, now you can dress up, showcase your pride as you dance before the king of kings who has humbled you to rise high, clap your hands lose yourself for you are free, its sounds of victory.

ADVENTURES WITH JESUS IN PRAYER

PARENTS 4:14

Scripture is clear about who is responsible to introduce children to God. Deuteronomy 6 commands parents to teach God's laws to our children in practically every potential situation- when eating at the table, walking down the road, sitting in our home.

One portion is to teach the children His Word and commandments and secondly to teach your children God's character. It is not an easy task, as we are sinful creatures and are far from being holy and godly. Our goal must be to reflect God's character as our children examine our character and compare it to God's. The impressions we make on our children will affect how they see and experience God for the rest of their lives.

How can I reflect God's character to my children?

It all starts with prayer. Prayer is about God.

- Ask God to give you His wisdom, patience, love, justice, integrity and faithfulness and apply it in your life.
- Be honest. You can show what God is not like, by being honest on all the aspects where you are not like Him! Sometimes, by God's grace you do reflect God's character, however at times you fall short of His perfection. Point out to your children that your reaction was sinful and that God is not like that.
- Pray that your children will meet this wonderful God and that the Holy Spirit will reveal Him to them as God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Close your eyes. Try to imagine what your mom, your dad and your best friend is like. Can you do that?

Now, close your eyes again. Try to imagine what God is like. Can you do that? No, you can't, why not?

You can't imagine Him because you can't see Him. But how can you find out what He is like? The answer is to look at who He is and His character.

God has a personality, He has names, and He does things in a certain way. When you focus on this, you can see who He is. It is good to know His Word and His commandments, but it is also very important to know who God is, because prayer is all about God. You can talk to God about things based on who He is. Knowing God's character will make your prayer life better.

TALKING TIME:

Read Psalm 139:13, 14

"For You formed my inward parts; You covered me in my mother's womb.

I will praise You, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made.

"Father, you are my Creator. I praise you for..... (Say in your own words)"
